Student Testimonial

The first thing that sets the school apart is the teachers. Every single one I had in my nine years was great at their job and very caring of each and every single student in their class. I can give a lot of credit to my early year teachers for making me curious about every subject, and the later year teachers for showing me how to succeed academically. What made all of them so good at their jobs though was how much they cared for all of us. Even when they were hard on us, it was because they were doing it to help us succeed later on down the road, which they did quite well. Because of my St. A. education, I was more than prepared to begin high school.

Perhaps the best thing about growing up at St. Athanasius was the Catholic school environment and going to Mass every week. There is nothing more important than not only learning the Catholic faith, but also being in a place that actively encourages you to live it out. That is exactly the kind of environment the school and everyone in it provided, and I have no doubt it still does that to this day. That truly is what sets the school apart from any other educational institution.

Being in a place that strengthens your faith while providing top-notch education is the ideal situation for any young child, and I am incredibly grateful I was able to go to school at such a place. If I were to ask fellow St. A. alums, I would likely get a similar response, which speaks to the quality of the environment. St. Athanasius imbued in me a strong sense of who I was, how I could succeed, and what it meant to be Catholic at a very early age, and I can confidently say that I am still benefitting greatly from my time spent there.
